Fass as you tan tell 'em,
T's and B's and big O rings,
Only I tan't spell 'em.

I tan make a funny pig,
Wid a turly tail-y,
'Ittle eyes, and snout so big
Pokin' in a pail-y.

I tan make a elephant,
Wid his trunk a-hangin';
An' a boy—who says I tan't?—
Wid his dun a-bangin'.

An' the smoke a tummin' out,
(Wid my t'umb I do it,
Rubbin' all the white about,)
Sparks a flyin' froo it.

I tan make a pretty house
Wid a tree behind it,
An' a little mousy mouse
Runnin' round to find it.

I tan put my hand out flat
On the slate, and draw it
('Ticklin' is the worst of that)!
Did you ever saw it?

I tan draw me runnin' 'bout
Mamma's 'ittle posset.
(Slate so dusty, rubbin' out,
Dess oo'd better wass it).

Now, then, s'all I make a tree
Wid a birdie on it?
All my pictures you s'all see
If you'll wait a minute.

Now, I dess I'll make a man
Juss like Uncle Rolly;
See it tummin', fass's it, tan I
Bet my slate is jolly!

LEONORA BROWN.

A STORY OF A HEROIC GIRL.

On the border of Green Lake, in Minnesota, there lived a sturdy, white haired frontiersman named Walter Brown. He was one of those adventurous spirits ever to be found in the van of advancing civilization, always courting the free, wild air of the prairie, and rejoicing in the profound depths of uninhabitable forests.

But the country became more and more thickly settled, and Walter Brown became uneasy. His wife had borne to him a daughter the third or fourth year of their residence at the head waters of the St. Croix, whom he called Leonora. She was a good girl, and the idol of her father. He purchased a rifle for her when but twelve years old, and took the utmost pains in teaching her the use of it. She was brave and steady of nerve, and soon acquired wonderful skill as a shot, and the number of prairie chickens, partridges, wild water fowls, and other small game, she managed to shoot each day, was really large. Occasionally she would shoot a deer, and one eventful morning, by a lucky shot through the eye into the brain, she killed a bear.

When she came home with the news her father could scarcely credit her.—But knowing her perfectly truthful nature, he danced about the room for joy, and seizing the sturdy little maid, he mounted her upon his shoulders and insisted upon carrying her all the way to the spot where the dead bruin lay.

Thicker and thicker flowed the tide of immigration into Minnesota and Wisconsin, following the navigable rivers as a matter of course, and more and more uneasy and "crowded" felt Walter. At length his wife died. Leonora was then sixteen, and engaged to be married to a handsome young trapper by the name of Watson, who had joined her father in business.

The death of her mother had made it necessary to postpone the wedding, and in the interim Walter decided to move to Northwest Minnesota. The neighbors were getting too near, and hunting and trapping were bad. As the young man had proved up and pre-empted a quarter section of land near Taylor's Falls, he did not wish to either abandon or sell it just then, and persuading Leonora to agree to write to him, he bade her an affectionate good-bye.

Brown lived in Minnesota for three or four years in peace and quiet, finding good trapping and hunting grounds when all at once young Watson arrived, and renewed the proposition of marriage with Leonora. The old man had about determined to move no more, and had accordingly located and pre-empted several thousand acres of land about him, and learning from Watson that he had money enough to do likewise, proposed that he should go down to St. Paul and buy land warrants with his money, and take up all the land he could "swing." He might then marry Leonora, and they two to work, and after building plenty of stabling, etc., would get a good stock of cattle and sheep, and try and lead a pastoral life for the rest of their days

To this proposition the young man heartily assented, and after returning from St. Paul, went bravely to work in the woods, felling trees for building purposes. It was agreed first that they should build a new hewed log house for the united family, as Watson had only got up a small, single room cabin. Then the wedding was to take place, and the two men would again resume their work.

While thus busily engaged the Sioux war broke out. It was the habit of Leonora to take her rifle out every morning and shoot prairie chickens for the table, while her lover and father were hard at work on the new house. Watson had brought her as a present from St. Paul a light and handsome revolving rifle, of which she was immensely fond, and with which she became so expert that she could shoot a duck or prairie chicken on the wing with almost absolute certainty.

One morning as she was strolling around the lake, rifle in hand, she noticed three canoe loads of Indians paddling carefully along the opposite side of the water, steadily and stealthily approaching the spot where her father and lover were at work. She did not immediately apprehend any tragedy, but in some unaccountable way she felt impelled to remain and watch their motions. She therefore concealed herself behind the top of a fallen tree, and observed their movements, which grew more and more suspicious. There were two Indians in each canoe, and after pulling steadily to a point where a thick, overhanging birch tree afforded concealment for their canoes, they disembarked, and crept carefully and noiselessly along until they were within a few feet of where the unsuspecting men were chopping. Suddenly with a yell that made the forest ring, and which echoed and re-echoed across the broad, still lake, they sprang upon their victims and bore them to the earth.

Leonora trembled with excitement and apprehension, expecting nothing less than to witness the horrible butchery of her father and lover at once.

But this did not seem to be the purpose of the Indians, for, tying the arms of the captives behind them, they took to the canoes, where taking the old man into one, and the young man into the other, they shoved boldly into the lake, and paddled rapidly down toward where the house stood. Leonora divined their intent instantly.

"Ha!" she said to herself, "they design capturing me, too. They deem that an easy job, perhaps!" and her eyes flashed and her face flushed with anger. "See! there is a fourth canoe, which they no doubtless suppose will carry me. This villainous work has been well calculated; but ha! you bad savages! you have mistaken your girl this time! Leonora Brown had been taught more things than to cook a venison steak. Oh, dear, dear, father, your Leonora will show you how bravely she can succor you, and how your instructing her in the use of this rifle has saved you this day. And you, too, darling Henry Watson, have won a stronger lease of your precious life by presenting me with this splendid revolving rifle. Six bullets for six ruffians! Miss one of them! ah, if I should—there's my knife. No, Leonora, you must not miss one of them."

The girl crept stealthily through the underbrush up the bank to the prairie above. She knew that to reach the house the Indians would have to cross a broad, flat field, where there was no shelter for their persons. She did not think they would hesitate to do this, because, having taken the two men, they would hardly expect any resistance from a single girl. About thirty rods to the right of the path a cattle yard had been erected by her father, and in the corner of the fence stood an immense elm tree. Inside of this yard climbed Leonora, and behind the big elm she concealed herself.

A few anxious minutes more proved she was right in her conjecture.—The Indians, after having tied stout rawhide thongs around the feet of their prisoners, laid them down in the bottom of their canoes, strode gaily and laughingly along toward the house, without any attempt at concealment.

Leonora's heart grew as hard as a stone and her nerves—which fluttered a little before—now grew as firm as steel. She had put fresh water-proof caps upon each nipple of her rifle, and putting the barrel on the rail of the fence, drew a sharp bead upon the foremost Indian; but as her finger curved to press the trigger, she heard what actually seemed to be a voice whisper.

"Not yet, Leonora?"

She paused, and then as if by inspiration, flashed the thought into her mind.

"Wait until they get nearer the house, then shoot hindmost one first."

She obeyed the impression and let them come on a few rods nearer. Suddenly the thought came again:

"Now's your time!"

Clapping her face to the rifle-breech she trained the death-dealing tube steadily at the chest of the rearmost Indian for an instant and then fired.

The bullet proved true to its mark, and the burly Indian threw up his arms and fell dead, the ball having gone directly through his heart.

A clap of thunder from a clear sky could not have so utterly astonished those remaining Indians. Wildly they looked in every direction to see whence came the fatal shot. In the next instant bang! went Leonora's rifle again and another of the number dropped dead.

But they saw the smoke of the last shot and caught a glimpse of the shooter. At once they comprehended their peril. They could not hide, and their only show for life was in running to the tree and tomahawking their presumptuous foe on the spot.—Instantly sounded the war-hoop, they bounded forward, but with the notes half uttered another of their number leaped into the air and fell back to rise no more. Leonora had fired again.

The remaining three rushed on, but again the brave girl's rifle rang like the knell of doom and the fourth savage pitched headlong to the ground.

The terror of the remaining two was now pitiful to behold; they stopped short in their onward course and uttering fearful screams, discharged their rifles at the tree in the wildest and unavailing manner. But again the relentless rifle blazed, and another of the remaining two sunk to the ground as the bullet went crashing through his brain.

Immediately the one left threw down his rifle and cried out,

"No shoot me! No shoot me! Me give up!"

Leonora had drawn a bead on him, but now that he seemed so perfectly in her power she lowered her rifle, and stepped from behind the tree, climbed the fence briskly, and commenced approaching the savage.

The surprise and indignation of the Indian at the sight of the girl was intense, and forgetting his supplicating cry, he put his hand behind him and drew forth his tomahawk to throw at her.

Leonora's eye was sharp as an eagle's. She saw the treacherous move, and just as the bright blade of the hatchet gleamed for the throw, she raised her rifle and shot the faithless scoundrel dead in his track.

With the speed of a deer she now bounded forward to the lake.

Harry Watson shouted, "Glory hallelujah. I knew it was Leonora," and the father cried for joy as her little form appeared on the bluff, rifle in hand.

Quickly she descended to the canoes and unbound the two men who embraced her and cried over her in the most extravagant manner.

But they felt they had no time to lose; and hastily gearing up their teams and loaded up their valuables, they set out for Minneapolis, where Leonora and Harry Watson were immediately made one flesh.

Old Walter Brown and Harry Watson both did good service in the Indian battles which followed; and when the savages were finally exterminated, they all went back to their old homes on Green Lake, where they now live. They have one of the largest stock farms in the State; and Leonora, though a happy wife and mother, clings to her beautiful revolving rifle, and yet occasionally uses it to keep in practice.

☞ An audience was recently assembled in one of the churches of Hagerstown, Md., to witness a ceremony that binds two willing hearts. The loving couple had presented themselves at the altar and the officiating divine had proceeded with the ceremony until the point was reached where notice is given that: "If any man can show just cause why they may not be joined together, let him now speak, or else hereafter hold his peace." At this interesting juncture an eccentric individual arose and put in his protest. A breathless silence pervaded the whole assemblage—the minister hesitated—the couple held their breath in awful suspense. At length the minister demanded the grounds of objection and received for answer: "He doesn't bind well in harvest." Among all the audience there was nary a straight face. The minister couldn't see the validity of the objection and of course finished the ceremony.

THE DOWN-HILL OF MATRIMONIAL LIFE.—As the beauty of the woman departs, her affection and care of her husband does not lessen, but the converse of the proposition is not so strictly true. It is impossible, however, to speak, too hardly, of the man who, having had the best of a woman's life at his disposal, slights her when the shadows overtake her, and endeavors to seek new sources of sentimental distraction. Though he may never wrong his wife in the last meaning of the word, the desperate misery he can inflict by his cruel thoughtlessness can scarce be ever condoned for. If young women were less cruel or heedless than they are, they would recall this when accepting attentions even of an innocent kind from married men whose wives are in the room. So far from caring, however, for the pain given in this way, they appear to consider it an agreeable tribute to their superior fascinations, oblivious that the chief fascination which brings the doddering old noodles within the trap of a fan consists in their ignorance and want of experience of what they admire—for a change. To live as mere man and wife is the best and simplest plan to obviate semi-detachment and all its attendant mischiefs. Those that think otherwise need never expect a slice of the Dunmow flitch; and instead of sleeping together at the foot of the hill, like those models in the Scotch song, they will probably be found wrangling at the end of the journey, and destroying each other's peace to the last with a horrible ingenuity engendered by an acquaintance with sore places.

☞ That was an unfortunate yawn which spoiled the pleasure of a party of young men on Lake Michigan last week. They sailed into a beautiful little cove and having laid out a sumptuous repast, were sitting down to enjoy it, when Mr. S., the wit of the party, leaned back with wide-stretched jaws to enjoy a tremendous gape, when snap went his jaw, having sprung out of joint with his mouth open to the widest extent. He tried in vain to close his jaw, looking wildly around upon his friends, who mistook his open mouth and agonized appearance for some kind of a joke. It was some time before his indistinct articulations could be understood, the party meanwhile roaring with laughter at the appearance of S. When, finally, they became aware of the truth, their visions of a pleasant day vanished, they hastily bundled their traps and afflicted brother into the boat, took to their oars, and pulled twelve long miles to Munising. S., in the meantime, sat in the stern sheets steering the boat, with distorted jaws, and the strong south wind blowing so freshly into his mouth as to make it necessary to stuff in a handkerchief to keep from being suffocated. Arriving at Munising a doctor was procured, and, with the help of several men, the unlucky jaw was put in place.

☞ Jona. Morgan, a lawyer, linguist and mechanician, who constructed the first steamboat ever seen on a New England river, is now living at Portland Me., having attained the age of ninety-one years. He is very eccentric, and for many years lived in a small attic room which served as office, bed-room and kitchen. He often boasted that his entire expense for living did not exceed $50 a year, and those best acquainted with his frugal habits and his mode of living were quite willing to believe him.

☞ "As to being conflicted with the gout," said Mrs. Partington, "high living don't bring it on. It is incoherent in some families, and is handed down from father to son. Mr. Hammer, the poor soul, who has been so long ill with it, disinherits it from his wife's grandmother."

☞ "All of a sudden the fair girl continued to sit on the sands, gazing upon the briny deep, on whose heaving bosom the tall ships went merrily by, freighted—ah! who can tell with how much of joy and sorrow, and pine lumber and emigrants, and hopes and salt fish!"

☞ "You ought to acquire the faculty of being at home in the best society," said a fashionable aunt to an honest nephew. "I manage that easy enough," responded the nephew, "by staying at home with my wife and children."

A farmer in Gardner, Maine, hitched his horse the other day to a platform car standing on a side track. A few minutes after, chancing to look towards his team, what was his astonishment to see it making better time over the sleepers than ever before, the horse doing his very best to keep up with the locomotive hitched to the other end of the long train. The man whipped out his jack knife in short order, and ran to sever the connection, but some one on train had discovered the situation and stopped the train—none too soon for the comfort of the horse.

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, Nov. 17, 1869

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

The "Globe" has the largest number of readers of any other paper published in the county. Advertisers should remember this.

☞ The Guerrilla Organ tried to explain the Chief's first letter. Since then it has been mum in that direction. The load is too heavy—damaging, very.

"Dad has slept with all sorts of political folks, from a Democrat down to a Radical."—Hollidaysburg Standard.

Very true, and knowing them, it is very easy for us to point them out that the voters may know who are who—who are genuine and who are bogus.

☞ The Guerrilla Chief was in town last week explaining his "posish." He was astonished that so many in West cut the ticket—he voted the whole ticket clean! He took no part against it! Jerusalom! That game is played, Doctor.

"Very sore—the heads of the editors of the Globe and Journal."—Cremer.

A mistake, as far as our head is concerned. Our barber says our head is perfectly clear of sores, but Mr. Cremer's barber could not say as much for his head as it is covered with a copper-colored wig.

☞ The Irish Republic, the organ of the Irish Republicans of the United States, and published in New York, nominates Horace Greeley as the Republican candidate for the next Governor of New York. In making this nomination the Republic says:

"Now, we Irish Republicans of the State of New York give notice that there are twenty-five thousand Irish Democratic votes in this city and State for Horace Greeley for next Governor, and there is no other Republican in the State can get them."

☞ Blair county Republicans are already looking up candidates for Congress and the State Senate. They think the guerrilla fight will defeat the nomination of any Republican from this county.

The Republican party of Old Huntingdon don't intend to give the guerrillas a voice in the selection of the candidates—they will be a little too fresh from Democratic caucuses. Huntingdon county will have candidates at the proper time; good Republicans—not Guerrillas.

"It is all important to know how we got that (Laird) letter."—Cremer.

Yes, it is all important to know how you got that letter. That letter was in a pocket book stolen from the pocket of Mr. Laird three years ago. Yes, it is important to know how you got that letter. Who found that letter? and who has the other papers that were in the pocket-book at the time it was "found?" A week or two previous to publishing that letter you said Mr. Laird had lost a pocket-book! It is important to Mr. Laird to know all you know about it.

THE WAY THE DEMOCRACY CARRY NEW YORK.—The New York Tribune says that "not one vote short of 25,000 were fraudulently cast at our late election, mainly by organized and well-paid gangs of 'repeaters,' some of whom were so audacious as to vote several times at the same poll." And it was not a good fall for repeaters either, for the vote shows a falling off of nearly 25,000 on last year's vote for Seymour. Ignorance, fraud, corruption, rum, beastly brutality and disloyalty, all together—for of such stuff is the Democratic party of that city largely composed.

☞ According to Cremer's idea of what would have been a Republican ticket at the last election, he should have been nominated in place of the wounded soldier Fouse, and another "home guard" in place of the soldier Lamberson, and the balance of Orlady's "programme," and the ticket would have been one selected by the party. But because the party would not swallow the whole dose prepared by the Doctor, the Doctor's faction determined to defeat the party by uniting with and electing the most bitter Democrats in the county. Such being the "posish" of Orlady's Guerrilla faction, it is not at all likely that the Republican party of the county, District or State, will recognize them as worthy to be named as Republicans. They have forfeited all claims they ever had upon the party, and they must now take a back seat and be "hewers of wood and drawers of water" until they can earn an honorable position as party men. As long as their Democratic friends, elected to office by their votes, continue in office, they can not expect an office from the Republican party. Congress!—Senator!—just think of it—lost to you for many years, because you were false to your party. We feel for you—we know what the torments are; we were there some few years ago, but are now some years ahead of you in the race for those prominent positions.

THE reunion of the Old and New School Presbyterians was effected in Pittsburg on Friday last. The Presbyterian Church now contains fifty-one Synods, two hundred and fifty-six Presbyteries, four thousand two hundred and thirty ministers, and a membership of nearly half a million souls.

☞ "To break up this 'Ring' we have labored and shall continue to labor until it is put down, and until its organs will cease to uphold it.—Guerrilla Organ.

The plain English of the Guerrilla Organ's threat is:—That the Guerrilla clan, Orlady, Scott, Dorris, Wharton, Fishers, Blairs & Co., will continue their guerrillaism against any Republican or Republican organization that will not come under their control and dictation. They succeeded in the late campaign in making many Republicans believe that a secret political organization had controlled certain nominations. But that trick cannot be played again. The truth is out, and is getting out thicker every day, that the guerrilla leaders are the only secret political faction in the Republican party in the county. Their secret "Ring" has been in existence ever since their Chief deserted the Democratic party. Every fall they tried to have the party work up to the Chief's "programme," and when they failed in making all the nominations, they would secretly play into the hands of Democratic candidates. Last campaign they took a bolder position because they succeeded in pulling the wool over the eyes of Senator Scott, and with his influence and patronage they did defeat the Republican party organization. Having defeated it they now think they can do the same thing over again, but they will find their influence in the future to be with those only who hold or expect to hold little offices under the appointing power. We are a Republican, not for office, but because the party is the Union party that saved the country from destruction—that gave aid and comfort to the boys in blue when they were facing the enemy in the battle field; and we will be for Republicans all the time when nominated by a Republican County Convention. We cannot see that the Guerrillas can claim any standing with the party they defeated—"treason must be punished"—and traitors attempting to wear the cloak of party but to deceive, must, for the good of the party, be exposed. The Globe will support the party and any man nominated by the party Convention. Factions in the party supporting party nominations, must close their contests in the Conventions. Any opposition afterwards is guerrillaism—the "posish" of the Guerrila Organ and its clan.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that we nominate General Grant for a second term, which puts us down third on the list, and we want our number remembered. Simon Cameron claims to be first—he is always first in every thing—great fore-sight (?); and Genl. Walbridge second, so by this announcement we claim to be the third, and shall insist upon our being recognized accordingly. Wonder if Grant knows it? Wonder what office we will get when he enters upon his second term as President? We shall send a copy of our paper to Gen. Grant, with this article marked, so that he can place it on file, and when he comes to look after his friends, he will find that we are Number 3. There is no good reason why we shouldn't claim a little credit, as well as any one else. We do claim to have been first in this county, and second in the United States, to nominate him for his first term, and now we are first in the county and third in the United States to nominate him for a second. Not many fellows rise from obscurity to such an exalted position in the affairs of the country, as we have just attained. We feel better—yes, well over it—and any reasonable man would be contented with what we have earned without receiving any recognition whatever from Grant, just as we are. We expect that the cable will startle all Europe by the announcement of our choice. Our name will be in everybody's mouth, and, don't you see, we at once become famous. We are immortalized; we feel good, and we are afraid that we will "bust"—with "kraut." Hurrah for Grant in 1872! Let us have peace!

We will still speak to our poor, obscure friends, if they keep their noses clean. We feel still better, and if we continue to feel still better and better, there is no telling how much better we will feel. Hurrah! third on the list in making a President! Don't our brethren of the press envy our position?—Look at our greatness. Visitors will be admitted to an audience with us, between the hours of sunset and sunrise. Everybody call and see us in all our glory. We can stand prosperity, and don't feel a bit proud. Materia Medica and Particeps criminis! [We don't know whether that's Latin, or what it is, but we introduce it here to show that we know a thing or two.]

Secretary Boutwell warns the public to beware of the stories being put in circulation by sensational newspapers regarding the Government finances, and his ideas, opinions, and intentions concerning the same. They are the mere surmises of persons who know nothing of what they speak, if they pretend to speak in any wise officially.

DURING the eight years that General Spinner has been Treasurer the transactions of his department have amounted to forty thousand millions of dollars, and yet not a dollar has been lost through any of his subordinates. Would that all Government officials could show as honest and worthy a record.

OBITUARY.—Few years have been as remarkable as 1869 in which the deaths of distinguished men have occurred. The dailies, almost without intermission, have published obituaries of great men, for several months past. It is more remarkable since this year is the last of the present decade.

The following are among those most prominent who have died within two weeks past:

AMOS KENDALL died at Washington city on Friday last. He was born in Dunstable, Massachusetts, on the 16th of August, 1789. In 1835 he was made Postmaster General, under Jackson, which position he held under Van Buren until 1840. He died happy, his last audible words being "Joy! Joy!"

DEAR ADMIRAL STEWART, died at Bordentown, N. J., on Saturday. He was ninety-one years of age, and the oldest officer in the Navy of the United States. He was a man of rare accomplishments and great attractions, personally, and his naval record was a history of honorable and brilliant achievements.

GEN. JOHN E. WOOL, the veteran soldier and sterling patriot, died at Troy, New York, on Wednesday, aged eighty years. He entered the service in 1812,—nearly fifty-eight years ago, during which time he served his country with great gallantry and credit, in the war with Great Britain, in the Mexican War, in the struggles and conflicts of our border warfare, and in the early stages of the late Rebellion.

EX-GOV. PRATT, of Maryland, died at his residence in Baltimore on Tuesday, aged sixty-five years. He was elected to the Executive chair of the State, by the Whig party in 1844; served several terms in the Legislature, and portion of a term in the United States Senate.

ROBERT J. WALKER, died at Washington on Thursday morning after a somewhat painful and protracted illness. Mr. Walker was a Pennsylvanian by birth, but removed to Mississippi some forty-three years ago, where he was engaged in the practice of law. He served in the U. S. Senate up to 1845, when he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury under President Polk. He was a leading free trade Democrat, and up to the breaking out of the war was prominently identified with that party. In 1861 he took a decided position in favor of the Government, which he maintained up to the time of his death.

MOST of the recent horrible cases of murder furnish renewed illustrations of the often-observed fact that "rum" is the great ally of murder. In nine cases out of ten, the murderer has previously placed himself under the influence of liquor. Sometimes it is the direct and exclusive stimulant of death or murder; and sometimes, the intended criminal, fired by other causes, finds it necessary to resort to it as the only agency capable of bringing him up to the "killing point." But we always expect to find its use associated in some way or the other with the perpetration of this, the highest crime known to the law or to morality.—N. Y. Times.

Facts like these reflecting minds cannot regard with indifference. They startle and take a lodgment in the public mind. The conviction is forced on it that "rum" is the great evil and consuming curse of our country, in regard to which it is a crime to be silent. Its treatment is a question of immense difficulties, and is worthy of the patient attention of our best minds. It is one of the "signs of the times" that it is forcing itself up to the notice of all men, and is likely to come to the front rank of great questions before the people.

The "Ring."

LETTER NO. 4.

[Strictly private—Burn at once.]

PETERSBURG, May 29, 1866.

FRIEND SHEARER: Dear Sir:—Yours of a recent date is to hand. I have taken occasion to mention to a number of our friends that you are a candidate for Register and Recorder. All seem pleased with you—Mr. McDivitt, Wharton, my brother of McConnellstown, and several others

I think you will not gain anything by publishing in the county papers.—I would reconcile that difficulty with Lutz, so that he wont attack you. It can easily be done through Judge Leas, Tate or Blair. You had better negotiate at once with your friends. Get reliable delegates in Tell and Dublin with Blair who will go for you and their friends on the ticket. Visit the Directors at the next meeting at the Poor House and inform Davis and Logan quietly that you are a candidate and desire their support. I will prepare Davis for your visit. See Blair at once. Report progress freely. Let us hear how Baker and others are flourishing. The Soldiers' League is now all right. Bakers are nowhere.

Yours truly, H. ORLADY.

P. S.—Be very careful in regard to candidates. Don't let the public know that you have a preference for anybody. H. O.

THE Washingtonians are getting busy in view of the approaching session of Congress. Numerous workmen are employed in fitting up the Senate Chamber and House of Representatives. It seems very strange that every year these chambers must undergo repair. It speaks very bad for the former occupants or else tells a wasteful expense of public moneys. The White House is also being "fitted up."

THE President is engaged in the examination of the reports of the heads of departments, abstracts of which have been submitted to him upon which to base his annual message.

Tragic Death.

SAD ILLUSTRATION OF THE TRIUMPH OF APPETITE OVER REASON.

The following, in regard to the death of Uniac, the celebrated temperance lecturer, is taken from the Boston Traveler. About two years ago he delivered a temperance lecture in this place.

"It is known to the friends of Mr. Uniac that some months ago he yielded to temptation, and for a few days was under the influence of liquor. After that he became sober again, but has had a fearful struggle with his returned appetite—the enemy in whose power he was formerly held for years. He has recently been under medical treatment, and, unknown to his physician, has been using opiates. During Thursday night, while in a state of desperation, he left the house where he had been boarding, and returned in a short time intoxicated, and having whisky in his possession. He went to bed and at 2 o'clock was breathing very heavily. Dr. Thayer was called, his stomach was emptied, and antidotes for narcotics were given, but without effect, and he died at 6 o'clock on Friday morning.

Mr. Uniac was born in Ireland, of parents who moved among the better classes. His father was a Colonel in the service of the Queen. Mr. Uniac left home at the age of sixteen years, and on his arrival in this country he stopped in New York seven months, and then went to Troy, where he studied law, and resided there three or four years. During the Fremont campaign he stumped the State in favor of the "Pathfinder's" election, doing effective service. By his own efforts he also succeeded in amassing $30,000 or $40,000, but following in the wrong path, he took to the cup that inebriates. He married an estimable lady in New York city, and two promising children were the fruit of the union. When the war broke out Mr. Uniac enlisted in the Sixty-ninth New York Regiment, and did good service. He served three years, at the expiration of which time he took a pledge of total abstinence. He was then employed by the Christian Commission to lecture. At Philadelphia he made the principal speech of the evening, on one occasion, and the sum of $50,000 was raised as the result of that effort. After the surrender of Lee to Grant, Mr. Uniac came to Boston. His career in this section of the country is well known. His father, mother, brothers, and sisters died before him."

A STRANGE FUNERAL INCIDENT.—On last Saturday, in a little country church, near this city, as an humbe village parson was preaching the funeral sermon of an old man, two young men passed the door of the church; one, a youth of twenty-five, proposed to go in "see whom they were about to plant" (to use his own words). They entered, and as they did so, the little congregation were about to take a last look at the still pale face of the deceased, the youths joined the melancholy procession. They paused a moment at the bier, when the one who had proposed to enter the church and "see whom they were about to plant," bent down over the coffin and gave signs of the most poignant grief. He wept bitterly, and refused to leave the coffin. Some one suggested to him to pass on, when he said:—"This is my father—how came he here?"

The sequel is soon told. At the beginning of the war the youth had enlisted in an Indiana regiment, and had taken employment in Maryland, and remained in that State until a few days since, when he started home to see his aged parents. En route he had stopped in the village to visit a a comrade who had gone through the war with him. The two, in taking a walk, passed the church in which the funeral service of John Slayton was proceeding, and by some strange influence young Slayton had been led to enter the church, when the sight of the lifeless form gave him the first intimation that he was fatherless. The elder Slayton had moved to Ohio during the last few years of his son's absense, and had, after a lingering illness, died.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

TOUCHING INCIDENT.—We heard of an incident yesterday concerning the alarm at the school building the other day, which so well illustrated the nobler part of human nature that we give it publication.

In one of the schools there is a young girl who is a cripple. It is the custom of the teacher to allow her, when the scholars are dismissed, always to pass outfirst, in order that she may escape from the confusion attendant upon the dismissal of so many children. On Monday last, when the alarm of fire was sounded, all the school rooms were at once emptied of their contents. While in all of them they rushed in dismay and fright, in some cases leaving everything behind, in the one where the lame girl was there was perfect quietness and order. All the scholars, notwithstanding the noise and apparent danger, remained quietly in their seats until their lame companion had gotten safely out, and was secure from the rush, when they with a bound cleared the room. They thought of her safety before their own, neither fright nor selfishness inducing them to provide for themselves until they saw her secure from peril. Such a display of consideration and kindness we have not heard of for many a day, and when we remember that it came from children, it becomes all the more touching and beautiful.—Easton Free Press.

IT is reported that the comptroller of the Currency will recommend a change in the banking laws, so as practically to admit of free banking, and to increase the circulation of national currency from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000. The new England States have absorbed nearly one-third of the issue of $30,000,000, and sell it to the Southern and Western Banks, who are without currency, at from four to nine per cent. premium.

☞ Wife—"I don't think, husband, that you are very smart." "No, indeed, wife, but everybody knows that I am awfully shrewd."

Valuable Farms For Sale.

BY virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Blair county directed to the undersigned administrators, there will be offered for sale at the Court House in Hollidaysburg,

On Wednesday, December 8th, 1869,

All the real estate of John Wertz, late of Catharine tp., Blair county, dec'd., consisting of THREE VALUABLE FARMS, to wit:

FARM NO. 1.

A splendid tract of land (formerly owned by Walter Graham, Esq.,) beautifully located on the Huntingdon and Indiana turnpike, within one and a half (1½) miles of the Penna. canal, in Clover Valley, Blair county, one of the best grain growing valleys in the State. This farm contains 209 ACRES of the best limestone land, perfectly clear, and in a high state of cultivation. The Buildings consist of a large Mansion House and other dwelling houses, a large bank barn, a grist mill with (water power,) and all necessary outbuildings for the farm.

An unfailing stream of pure water flows through the tract, and the house is supplied by a fountain pump with good spring water. There are two good apple orchards on the premises. There are four churches within one and a half miles, and the post office at Yellow Springs and school house within one-half mile of the property. Taken altogether, this is one of the best located farms in Blair county.

FARM NO. 2.

Situate on Clover creek, in Woodberry township, Blair county, one and a half (1½) miles east of the town of Williamsburg, containing 140 ACRES of good limestone land in good farming order. On this farm is erected a good stone Dwelling House, a never-failing spring, a bank barn, a carriage house and corn crib, and all the necessary outbuildings. An unusually fine spring of limestone water is near the house, and beautifully enclosed with wall of cut stone. There is on this tract an excellent apple orchard in good bearing condition. Schools and churches convenient.

FARM NO. 3.

Situate on the Juniata river one mile east of Hollidaysburg, Pa., containing about 160 ACRES, on which is erected a brick Dwelling House and bank barn, together with all the necessary outbuildings. Part of this Farm is a rich alluvial soil; the other part good limestone—both in good state of cultivation. On this farm is also a good apple orchard. Its proximity to the thriving town of Hollidaysburg makes this a very desirable location.

TERMS.—One-third of the purchase money to be paid on confirmation of the sale, the other two-thirds in two equal annual payments with interest, to be secured by the bond and mortgage of the purchaser.

Diaries for 1870 at Lewis' Book Store.

New schedule on the Penna. Central R. R.

Buy of those who advertise in the Globe.

Bellefonte has an ecstatic parient. Huntingdon has several of them.

The English, Irish and Welch miners at Osceola had a fight recently.

Prime cheese, tea cakes and crackers, always on hand at the Red Front.

Measles and mumps afflict many of Huntingdon's rising sons and daughters.

Wm. Baird, of Hollidaysburg, while walking on stilts, fell and broke his arm.

A number of criminal cases have been postponed till next Court in January.

The trial of the Broad Top party will cost the county over $1000. Another "Rubini" swindle.

Uncle George took his seat as County Commissioner on Monday of last week, Mr. Foust retiring.

M. S. Lytle, Esq., elected District Attorney, occupies his position, Mr. Lovell retiring.

The Newingham property in the Diamond was sold at public sale last week to Thomas Carmon for $4600.

Go to the Red Front Grocery for pure spices, the best raisins, citron, dried currants, mince meat, sweet cider, &c., &c.

A. Sidney Russell for several years deputy postmaster of Bedford, died in Philadelphia, on the 24th ult., of heart disease.

Snow to the depth of several inches fell here on Saturday night last. We can not think that winter has set in so soon.

The potato crop in this county has been injured by the unexpected cold weather. Hundreds of bushels have been destroyed.

Red Front Grocery is getting ready for the holidays. Everything of the best will be kept constantly on hand and sold at reasonable prices.

Four or five new furnaces are to be built along the line of the H. & B. T. Railroad. The hum of activity thereaways is growing gratifyingly louder.

The Bellefonte Watchman got a five pound turnip. At a rough estimate we would say that the editor's own head would beat it—about one ounce.

"Shinny" is being played by our Young America, without any regard to windows or pedestrians' heads or legs. Does not this game come under the $5 penalty ordinance?

Our urchins generally are not behind those of other towns in the number of stumps and cheroots they smoke and the plugs and ends of tobacco they chew. Is there not a good field for reform here?

To see sights go to D. Africa & Co's. They have the largest stock of toys and fancy goods in Huntingdon. Candy fruit, nuts, &c., always on hand. Also, choice cranberries, just received. Call and see. *

A newspaper article has been going the rounds of the press lately, "Where is your boy at night?" A brilliant urchin suggests the propriety of another article, "Where is the old man at night?". Not a bad idea.

A friendly correspondent asks why it is that some papers charge for inserting marriage and death notices. The reason is, One is an advertisement of co-partnership and the other is a notice of dissolution. Business is business, you know.

Our quondam citizen, Dr. J. M. Cunningham, now at Bloody Run, shot a twelve and a half pound wild turkey, the other day, and gave a feast thereof, in which the editor of the Press had a share. Nobody has said "turkey" to us this season.

When Andy Johnson determined on defeating the party that made him President, he appointed to office only such as were willing to assist him—the Guerrillas in this county are doing the same. Every dog is already barking for his bone.

The Court Room was crowded during last week by witnesses and persons anxious to hear the evidence in the Broad Top murder case. The evidence closed on Saturday evening—the lawyers commenced speaking Monday morning and will close to-day.

"Rubini."—"We know he took in, during the week, over $100—and paid nothing."—Monitor. We do not know what amount he took in, but we know we received from him $22 22. Mr. Yenter also received pay for his hall. That "due bill" is just about as good as many others we hold.

George Cremer, son of the editor of the Guerrilla organ, has been appointed to a clerkship in the U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. Guerrillaism aside, the young man would be deserving a party appointment, but it is not to be supposed that he could have received the appointment if the father had not worked in the interests of the Guerrilla combination.

ACCIDENTS.—Wm Enyeart, of Putts-town, Hopewell township, was killed on Broad Top Railroad.

A child of Mr. Barto, was burned to death, at Connellstown, on Monday evening.

Henry C. Walker died at Alexandria, on Tuesday morning.

Jacob Weaver, of Hopewell, died last week.

Mr. Murdoch's Readings.

The Young Men's Christian Association of this place have engaged Mr. S. K. Murdoch to read a number of choice laughable and entertaining selections, on Monday evening next.—Many of our readers have no doubt heard of Mr. Murdoch as a reader, and they will assuredly go and hear him. To those who have not heard of him we will say that his reputation is proverbial, and he has had engagements in many cities of the Union. Our people should go and hear him, as upon the patronage which this, the first entertainment given by the Y. M. C. A., receives, depends the number that will be engaged for the season. There are none who will dispute that the Association should receive encouragement in its efforts to edify our citizens and maintain its own existence.

The Y. M. C. A., having in their last course of lectures most signally failed in meeting their expenses, and were only relieved from pecuniary loss by the gratuitous entertainments of some of their friends, endeavored to raise $600 as a fund to insure a course of from six to ten lectures for the coming season, and in this also failed.—Now, as an experiment, they offer this entertainment to the public, promising if sustained, to procure the services of other first class lecturers, otherwise, this will complete the course.

Court Proceedings.

The following cases were tried at the session of court last week:

Commonwealth vs Patrick Millan; charged with assault and battery.—Acquitted on the grounds of insanity.

Martin L. Walker, indicted for assault and battery. Verdict, not guilty, and the Commonwealth pay the costs.

Cornelius Kane, charged with the murder of Patrick Mackey. Counsel for the Commonwealth, Messrs. Calvin of Hollidaysburg, R. B. Petrikin, J. S. Blair and the District Attorney. The counsel for the defendant, Messrs. Speer and McMurtrie, and Steel Blair of Hollidaysburg.

The trial began on Wednesday morning and on Saturday evening, when the evidence closed, John Lynch, Edward Powers and John Mulvyhill were arraigned, charged with being accomplices. The jury were sworn to try their cases and render a verdict from the evidence adduced during the examination. The Court then adjourned until Monday, when the trial was resumed. The argument on the part of the Commonwealth was opened by Mr. Petrikin.

A new O. F. Lodge.

Mount Union, in this county, now rejoices in a lodge of Odd Fellows. On Saturday last, D. D. G. M. Graffus Miller, in company with a number of brothers from Juniata Lodge, No. 117, of this place, went to Mt. Union and conducted the ceremonies of dedication of the hall and organization of the lodge. A number of brothers from neighboring lodges were present. The lodge is called the Mt. Union Lodge, No. 677 and numbers 22 charter members. Six persons were initiated in the evening. We hope the lodge will increase in numbers and influence, and exemplify the teachings of this good order in the practice of Friendship, Love and Truth.

Public Sale.

Will be sold at Public Sale on Tuesday, November 23d, next, at McConnellstown, this county, the following property, viz: Four head of work horses, two cows, two wagons, two sleds, one sleigh, one sulkey, one lot of crowbars, picks, shovels, drills, powder and fuse; also, two sets tug harness, one set fine harness, thirty new collars, halters, bridles and lines. One thousand bushels of lime, more or less; five new riding saddles, two wagon saddles, new, and one side saddle, new. Also, a variety of articles too numerous to mention. Sale to commence at nine o'clock, a. m., on said day, when terms will be made known. G. H. LANG.

An honest young man from Huntingdon county found sixteen dollars yesterday morning and left the money at the mayor's office for identification. Later in the day the owner appeared and received it.—Harrisburg Patriot, 19th inst.

We learn that the "honest young man" referred to is Mr. Lonenaker, and resides in Petersburg, this county. Huntingdon county has many more just such honest young men; but it is all owing to good parental training, strict moral teaching and advanced intelligence(!)

MARSH MINSTRELS.—This popular Troupe of Ethiopian artists will give two of their entertainment at Yenter's Hall, on Friday and Saturday evenings next. The company is composed of first-class artists. Also the Brass Band which is led by Professor Julius Moore, together with the comic sayings and Jokes of Lou Gardner, which are immense—will no doubt crowd the house.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.—By an agreement of the Pastors of Huntingdon, there will be Divine Services held in the Presbyterian church, on Thursday morning the 18th inst., at 10½ o'clock. Sermon by Rev. Dr. Hamlin.

Services in the evening in the Methodist Episcopal Church, when Rev. J. W. Plannett will preach.

D. P. Gwin has just received an elegant of Plaids from 25 cents to $1,00 per yard, also a beautiful lot of Shawls, Black Alpacas, Skirts, Skirting Flannels, and the handsomest and cheapest lot of prints in town.

Putting Up Stoves.

The ceremony of this "great vexation" of the season is so well described by Mark Twain—who has been through it—that we gladly reproduce the description, at the same time commending its truthfulness and appropriateness. The lords of the household, upon whom the unpleasant duty annually devolves, will find here a pen picture just sooted to their case. But for Twain's own words: In consequence of the arrival of cold weather once more, about these days there is a universal putting up of stoves, preparatory for the winter campaign, and undoubtedly a great deal of profanity is indulged in. One who has considerable experience in the work of putting up stoves says the first step to be taken is to put on a very old and ragged coat, under the impression that when he gets his mouth full of plaster it will keep his shirt bosom clean.—Next he gets his hands inside the place where the pipe ought to go, and blacks his fingers, and then he carefully makes a black mark down one side of his nose. It is impossible to make any headway, in doing this work, until his mark is made down the side of the nose. Having got his face properly marked, the victim is ready to begin the ceremony. The head of the family—who is the big goose of the sacrifice—grasps one side of the bottom of the stove, and his wife and the hired girl take hold of the other side. In this way the load is started from the woodshed toward the parlor. Going through the door the head of the family will carefully swing his side of the stove around and jam his thumb nail against the door. This part of the ceremony is never omitted.

Having got the family comfortably in place, the next thing is to find the legs. Two of these are left inside the stove since the spring before. The other two must be hunted for twenty-five minutes. They are usually found under the coal. Then the head of the family holds up one side of the stove while his wife puts two of the legs in place, and next hold up the other side while the other two are fixed, and one of the first two falls out. By the time the stove is on its legs he gets reckless and takes off his old coat regardless of his linen. Then he goes off for the pipe and gets a cinder in his eye. It don't make any difference how well the pipe was put up last year it will be found a little to short or a little too long. The head of the family jams his hat over his eyes and taking a pipe under each arm goes to the tin shop to have it fixed.

When he gets back he steps upon one of the best parlor chairs to see if the pipe fits, and his wife makes him get down for fear he will scratch the varnish off from the chairs with the nails in his boot heel. In getting down he will surely step on the cat, and may thank his stars if it is not the baby! Then he gets an old chair and climbs up to the chimney again to find that in cutting the pipe off the end has been left too big for the hole in the chimney. So he goes to the wood shed and splits one side of the end of the pipe with an old axe, and squeezes it in his hands to make it smaller. Finally he gets the pipe in shape and finds that the stove does not stand true.—Then himself and wife and the hired girl move the stove to the left, and the legs fall out again. Next it is to the right. More difficulty with the legs. Move to the front a little. Elbow not even with the hole in the chimney, and he goes to the wood shed after some little blocks. While putting the blocks under the legs the pipe comes out of the chimney. That remodified the elbow keeps tipping over to the great alarm of the wife. Head of the family gets the dinner table out, puts the old chair on it, gets his wife to hold the chair, and balances himself on it to drive some nails into the ceiling. Drops the hammer onto his his wife's head. At last he gets the nails driven, makes a wire swing to hold the pipe, hammers a little here, pulls a little there, takes a long breath, and announces the ceremony completed. Job never put up any stoves. It would have ruined his reputation if he had.

PARODY NO. 3.

PART FIRST.*

Tell me, ye winged winds,
That round my pathway roar,
Do you not know some spot
Where candidates will weep no more?
Some lone and pleasant dell,
Where, free from politics and pain,
The weary men may rest?
The loud wind dwindled to a whisper low
And sigh'd for pity as it answer'd, "No."

Tell me, thou mighty deep,
Whose billows round me play,
Know'st thou some favor'd spot,
Some island far away,
Where "Guerrillas" may find
The bliss for which they sigh,
Where Conventions never live,
And Independents never die?
The loud waves, rolling in perpetual flow,
Stopp'd for awhile and sigh'd to answer, 'No'

And thou, serenest moon,
That with such holy face
Dost look upon the earth
Asleep in night's embrace,
Tell me, in all the round,
Hast thou not seen some spot
Where disappointed man
Might find the "Treasurer's" lot?
Behind a cloud the moon withdrew in woe,
And a voice, sweet but sad, responded, "No."

PART SECOND.†

Tell me, my secret soul,
O, tell me, Hope and Faith,
Is there no resting place
From honest Republicans?
Is there no political spot
Where Independents may be bless'd,
Where Guerrillas may find a balm,
And Democrats a rest?
Faith, Hope, and Love, best boons to mortals given,
Waved their bright wings, and whispered—
"Yes, in Huntingdon."

TODD.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

For the Farmer.

Heneries can be rid of vermin by fumigating with charcoal and sulphur.

Persons having damp cellars should resort to ventilating them.

The 20th of September and of March determine the state of the weather for the three following months. So says a forty years' experimenter.

A farmer in Wisconsin says, since he allows his wheat for seed to get thoroughly ripe before cutting, he never has smut. His experience has all been with spring wheat.

An old farmer in Vermont is noted for keeping apples into May and June fresh and fair. He was asked his method. "I put 'em on a shelf in a closet in a dry cellar, and lock the door, and lose the key," was his reply.

Bots in horses can be cured, it is said, by giving a piece of alum the size of a walnut dissolved in one quart of water, and drench afterwards. It is well to loosen the bowels. Another cure is said to be a dose of tobacco.

It is a bad plan to place potatoes against the damp walls of a cellar, or to put them in large, deep bins, where they will be liable to gather moisture. If bins are used, the bottom should be made of strips, with small spaces left between, to admit air. Cellars, in which potatoes are kept should not be too light, because it will, as every farmer knows, make them turn green, and injure their flavor and value.

Here is a recipe for corned beef, which is highly recommended: "For one hundred pounds beef, three buckets of water—or enough to cover the meat—four pounds brown sugar, with just mitch salt as will dissolve. Boil and skim. Put in the meat while boiling; boil thirty mintes; take out and cool; pack in barrel and turn on pickle when cold. Beef packed after this recipe may need a little more salt after the month of March."

Thanksgiving Day.

Washington, Oct. 8.—By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION.

The year which is drawing to a close has been free from pestilence; health has prevailed throughout the land; abundant crops reward the labors of the husbandman; commerce and manufactures have successfully prosecuted their peaceful paths; the mines and forests have yielded liberally; the nation has increased in wealth and in strength; peace has prevailed and its blessings have advanced every interest of the people in every part of the Union; harmony and fraternal interest restored are obliterating the marks of past conflict and estrangement, burdens have been lightened, means have been increased, civil and religious liberty are secured to every inhabitant of this land, whose soil is trod by none but freemen. It becomes a people thus favored to make acknowledgment to the Supreme Author from whom such blessings flow, of their gratitude and their dependence, to render praise and thanksgiving for the same, and devoutly to implore a continuance of God's mercies.

Therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do recommend that Thursday, the 18th of November next, be observed as a day of thanksgiving and of praise and prayer to Almighty God, the Creator and Ruler of the universe. And I do further recommend to all the people of the United States to assemble on that day in their accustomed places of public worship, and to unite in the homage and praise due to the bountiful Father of all mercies, and in fervent prayer for the continuance of the manifold blessings He has vouchsafed to us as a people.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed, this 5th day of October, A. D. 1869, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-fourth.

By the President: U. S. GRANT.

HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

The President of the United States having issued the foregoing proclamation, I do most earnestly advise that the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the reasons therein given, strictly observe its recommendations.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Commonwealth, at Harrisburg, this 25th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-fourth.

JOHN W. GEARY.

By the Governor:
F. JORDAN, Sec. of the Commonwealth.

McGUIRE'S

SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR,

And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries.—No preparation of art could give that elegant human luxe and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

McGUIRE'S

Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing.—When thus used it at once relieves headache.

McGUIRE'S

WILD FLOWERS FOR THE TEETH.

All those who are in favor of white teeth and a pleasant and perfumed breath, should at once use McGuire's Wild Flowers for the Teeth. All these preparations are put up in the most elegant and ornamental manner. We make no exception in saying that they are an ornament to a lady's toilet table, and none complete without them.

Warranted satisfactory or money refunded. Dealers will bear this in mind. Sold by all respectable Druggists in the United States and Canadas. Address orders to

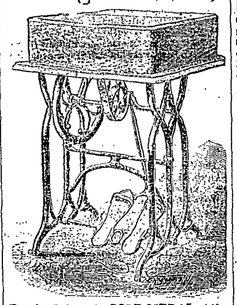
WHEELER & WILSON'S

HIGHEST PREMIUM

LOCK STITCH

Sewing Machines,



Received the only GOLD MEDAL at the PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.

They are adapted to all kinds of Family Sewing and to the use of Seamstresses, Dressmakers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Linen Goods, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen threads. They will hem, quilt, gather, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind, and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed.

The qualities which recommend them are:

1. Beauty and excellence of stitch, alike on both sides of the fabric sewed.
2. Strength, firmness and durability of seam, that will not rip nor ravel.
3. Economy of Thread.
4. Attachments and wide range of application to purposes and materials.
5. Compactness and elegance of model and finish.
6. Simplicity and thoroughness of construction.
7. Speed, ease of operation and management, and quietness of movement.

Instructions free to all. Machines kept in repair one year free of charge.

UNFAILING EYE PRESERVERS!

Lazarus & Morris'

CELEBRATED

PERFECTED SPECTACLES

AND EYE GLASSES.

The large and increasing sales of these

SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their usefulness. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to testers of our beautiful lenses viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured result in the continued improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give to weak eyes, were to themselves an apparent on trial; that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our CELEBRATED PERFECTED SPECTACLES by the residents of this locality

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To the fine reading Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

Mr. AARON STEWARD,

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

GET THE BEST

READY ROOFING.

Suitable for all Buildings, Dwellings, Barns, Churches Factories, &c., and for all climates; equally adapted to flat or steep roofs, and can be applied by any ordinary workman.

THE READY ROOFING

Is more durable than tin, and does not cost one half as much. It is cheaper than shingles, far more durable, and fire-proof. It is made of the best felt, the core used for the purpose, and is put up in rolls ready for shipment, to any part of the world. Send for circular and samples (sent free.)

We also manufacture

GRANITE CEMENT,

For repairing all kinds of leaky roofs, chimneys, skylights, &c. This Roofing Cement forms a permanent adhesive coating over the whole surface of all roofs, whether tin, shingle or composition, completely closing up leakages, and being composed largely of ground granite, which sets and hardens, and soon becomes an artificial Slate or Stone covering.

ROOF PAINT,

For coating Tin and all kinds of metal and composition roofs. It will not run, crack or peel off, but form a permanent and perfect protection, wherever placed. It is furnished at half the cost, and possesses twice the durability of the common oil paints used for such purposes.

County rights for sale.

SOLDIERS' HEIRS, ATTENTION!

The act of Congress approved March 2, 1867, gives to Heirs of Soldiers who died prisoners of war, for the time the soldier was so held a prisoner, at the rate of twenty-two cents per day, to be paid in the following order: 1st. To the widow, if unmarried; 2d. To the children; 3d. To the parents, to both jointly if they are living, if either is dead, to the survivor; 4th. To the brothers and sisters.

COMMUTATION FOR RATIONS,

The act of February 28, 1867, provides for the refunding of the $100 Commutation Money, where the same person was again drafted, and who required to enter the service or furnish a substitute.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS.

The act of March 2, 1867, also makes provisions for the payment of the

$100 ADDITIONAL BOUNTY

to such soldiers as have accidentally lost their discharges

All persons having any claims under any of the above mentioned acts, or any other kind of claim against the United States or State Governments, can have the same promptly collected, by addressing the undersigned. Information and advice cheerfully given to soldiers or their friends, free of charge.
